

A circle divided into two comma-shaped regions. Widespread in East Asia. Often referred to as the “yin-yang symbol.”

This symbol was not used in period heraldry and is unregistrable without further documentation as of the June 2018 LoAR.

No default orientation. Typically argent and sable.